(9) Dress Allowance of Rs. 12 and Rs. 6 per year should be paid to every underground and surface worker, respectively.

(10) Adjustments of wages should be made on length of total service.

(11) Every worker should be paid 50 per cent more on the present Basic wage.

(12) Three months' wages should be given as bonus (i.e., two more months wages in addition to one month's already paid).

The Managements took time till next day (16th July) for considering these counter-proposals, and at the same time desired the Labour Representatives to consider carefully the offer made by the Managements and consult the labourers.

On the 16th July, the Managements stated that they had considered carefully the counter-proposals and were unable to accept them or modify the terms already offered. The Labour representatives, on their side, expressed inability to accept the terms offered by the Managements and appealed to the Managements to consider again the counter-proposals, and added that they had fully thought over the matter and consulted the workers, and that the workers were not satisfied with the offer. After further discussion and permission on both sides, time was given till the next day (17th July) to enable the parties to think it over again seriously and with a view to see if there was still no chance of the parties arriving at a settlement.

Then, on the 17th July, the parties on either side expressed inability to accept the terms of the other side and to come to an agreement. The Labour representatives said that they had considered the matter very seriously and consulted the workers and that it was not possible to accept the offer of the Managements and that the Managements may still consider once again. The Managements expressed once again that they could not go further and that the terms offered were generous and were the maximum that could be secured by them from their authorities. Finally Labour representatives stated that if the Managements could at least grant two months more wages as Bonus (in addition to the one month's already paid), and agreed to link the Dearness Allowance to the cost of living index during the interim period, the workers would be persuaded to accept the terms offered by the Managements for the interim period. After some more discussion, the Managements said that it was not possible to go any further and agree to these conditions. No agreement between the parties was therefore possible. In the end, the Managements stated that their offer, not being accepted by the other side, is withdrawn. The Labour representatives on their side, stated that their counter-proposals to the Management are likewise withdrawn.

All possible ways of settlement were explored, but no settlement between the parties could be reached in the matter of these ten common demands. The proceedings in regard to these ten common demands thus ended in failure, which I hereby report.

I request that this report may be published in the Gazette, as required under Sub Section 4 of Section 12 of the Mysore Labour Act.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
NAVANEETHAM,
Chief Conciliator in Mysore.
